Susan Dermarkar, PhD

A Life History of the Keffer Village and its place in 15th Century North Shore Iroquoia

In this presentation Dr. Dermarkar will trace the appearance, growth, and final abandonment of the Keffer village through settlement pattern studies and analysis of ceramics. Keffer is an ancestral North Shore Iroquoian village situated in the Upper Don River Valley.

The development of this community is highly integrated and dependant on the relations of its inhabitants with those in the surrounding Lake Ontario north shore area.

These relationships are central to the identity of the Keffer community.
